

Humanities Division

Humanities form the cornerstone of higher education. They underpin all the academic disciplines by shedding light on the underlying assumptions of social policy, technological development, economic planning, and public and private values. Study in the humanities provides students with historical perspective and cultural awareness, the ability to express themselves clearly, accurately, and critically evaluate both ideas and actions, and the courage to make choices based upon shared values and priorities.

Our programs are nationally recognized for their quality and for the prominence and dedication of their faculty. Students in the humanities have the opportunity to work closely with faculty mentors on research projects that earn award-winning results. UC Santa Cruz offers disciplinary and interdisciplinary majors/minors in the programs noted below.
